Facts

- Proposed for a sloping site, the rear garage entrance on Fort Myer Drive is almost 24 feet below the main entrance on Nash Street. The height shown is from the lower entrance elevation.
- This will become the tallest residential building in Arlington County.
- It replaces the Best Western Washington Key Bridge.
- Originally approved by the Arlington County Board in 2001 with 176 units averaging 2800 square feet. The project was revised in 2004 to include twice as many units, but the height of the building has not changed.
